COVID-19 Teleconference Registration Form

COVID-19 and the ensuing shutdown of much of the US and global economy will affect construction projects, but how? Contractors need to know how this will affect their work, projects, and human resources. This teleconference will focus on contract language and notices needed as the COVID-19 continues. The teleconference will also cover employment issues related to COVID-19: employer obligations, new Congressional action, and other considerations and concerns. Whether you are a general contractor, subcontractor, or supplier this timely information should be of great importance and interest.

Hear construction and business law attorney, Todd A. Jones, employment and labor law attorney, Christine F. Mayhew, both from Anderson Jones, PLLC and Janice Lane PHR and SHRM-CP, from Jones Insurance discuss the issues and impacts to the construction industry.
